

LOCAL MATTERS.

PROBATE COURT.—This Court, Judge Bidwell, presiding, after a session of a few days, has adjourned till the first Monday in January next. This is the last sitting of Judge Bidwell on that bench, his term of office expiring on the 1st of January in consequence of his election to the Council of this Territory. The people of this county owe our good old friend Thomas a great deal for the able and impartial manner in which he has conducted his Court. May our next Probate Judge be as efficient as Thomas J. Bidwell.

INDELIBLE PENCILS.—Our friend Schneider has just received a lot of improved indelible pencils, which he is retailing like "hot cakes." With these pencils little or no preparation is required to mark clothes, and, as the name denotes, the mark is indelible. Schneider presented us with one of those "markers," on condition that when we get clothes worth marking we shall do so. That pencil will last for generations if it passes from one editor to another.

PERSONAL.—J. A. Moore, of the Arizona City & Tucson stage line, arrived from San Diego, with his lady, last Thursday, en route to his home at Maricopa Wells.

Mr. Decker, of the firm of Decker & Childs, Gila Bend, was in town for several days during this week.

Thos. J. Goldman, the popular caterer of the Good Man's House in Ehrenberg has been in town for over a week.

GOLDEN EAGLE RESTAURANT.—Although but three weeks has transpired since this place was opened, still it has acquired the popularity seldom gained in years by restaurants generally. John Haggee knows how to keep a hotel.

BOARD OF CANVASSERS.—The Board of Supervisors met as Board of Canvassers last Monday, for the purpose of canvassing the election returns from the different precincts of the county.

False Alarm.

A few days since Geo. Fields, the owner of a train transporting freight between this city and Tucson, and other points, arrived here with the sad intelligence that all his mules had been stolen near Teamster's Camp, where he stopped one night. It seems that that night the mules were sent out to be herded a short distance from the Camp, under the supervision of a watchful herder. Next morning, he came into Camp with the intelligence that six Indians had come, and, after five shots having been exchanged between them, had succeeded in driving away the whole herd. A search was made, but without success. Mr. Fields came here for the purpose of procuring assistance to carry on his freight he had in his charge. Last Tuesday, information reached him here that seven of his animals had returned to Camp, and he brightened up somewhat. The day following, (Wednesday), a special dispatch came to him stating that all the mules had returned. It turns out now that the herder, tired with watching, had fallen asleep, and during that time, his imagination being bent upon Indians, he dreamed that those fiends did come, fired at him, and drove the mules away. Awakened just at that time he looked for his mules, but none were in sight. Then he felt convinced that it was not a dream, and rushed to Camp and gave an account of his narrow escape. The mules, it is evident, had gone astray.

APPOINTMENT OF COURT COMMISSIONER.—Dr. F. H. Goodwin, we understand, has been appointed Court Commissioner for this District, vice J. W. Dorrington, removed. We congratulate the doctor upon his good fortune, and the people upon the appointment of such an able and efficient gentleman to serve them.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.—The Territorial Grand Jury did not hand in their report until this afternoon, too late for insertion.

DISTRICT COURT.—Owing to the fact that we have been overburdened with Grand Jury patch work, we are unable to give the proceedings in the District Court.

LEAKY.—More than half of the indictments presented to the Court by the District Attorney could not hold water. In other words they were quashed, as usual.
